Fire Sweeps Huge Barn; Burns Horse

Wind-driven fire consumed a barn one-half mile off Chip-perfield Drive yesterday afternoon.

A thoroughbred horse and at least two valuable pieces of machinery belonging to Boyd Weiss Jr., Stroudsburg, were lost in the blaze.

The fire was discovered shortly after 2 p. m. by James Brown who lives in a frame house near the barn.

Brown, who had just walked outside his house, noticed smoke pouring from the roof of the barn. A thin path of flames was beginning to eat its way around the barn roof.

Brown raced to the phone and placed an alarm to the Stroud Township Volunteer Fire Co., then rushed back to the outside where he found his neighbor John Schoonover.

The two men succeeded in rescuing four of the five horses from the interior of the barn. The fifth horse, however, was trapped.

By the time the horses had been freed, the barn had burst into a mass of flame. Minutes later, the fifth horse staggered from the interior of the building.

The horse was badly burned, Brown said. The tenant shot the horse with a .410-gauge shotgun. It fell beside the burning building.

Stroud township firefighters arrived at the scene of the blaze around 2:30 p. m. Fire Chief Clyde R. White said.

With about 25 men on duty, the fire company battled to keep the blaze from spreading to nearby buildings and a thickly-forested area which rimmed the property.

By 5 p. m. the fire had been brought under control.

The horse lost as a result of the blaze was a five-year-old Tennessee walking horse named "Rusty," belonging to Mrs. Ruth Weiss. Two of the other animals saved from the fire by Schoonover and Brown were thoroughbreds of the same breed.

Equipment lost in the fire included a four-bottom plow, a corn cutter, horse trailer and a potato planter. Nearly three tons of baled hay was also destroyed.

Two of the four horses rescued from the fire were "slightly burned," Brown said, and were treated by a veterinarian.

Schoonover was notified of the fire by his two sons, John Jr., 12 and Billy, 9.

When the fire department left the property at 5:30 p. m. only a mass of ashes remained of the barn.

Lie's Legal Advisers Open Way To Clean Out American Communists On U.N. Staff

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Three world-renowned lawyers advised U. N. Secretary-general Trygve Lie yesterday that he can and should fire any U. N. staff employee who is an active member of the American Communist party.

The legal panel also advised firing any employee who invokes the constitutional ground that he might incriminate himself for refusing to answer whether he was guilty of espionage or subversive activity against the U. S. at any time, or whether he was a member of the American Community party at the time he was questioned.

"In our opinion there is no immunity or privilege enjoyed by any member of the United Nations staff behind which he could shelter if brought to account on any charge of his taking part in subversive activities against the United States of America," the opinion read.

The legal language of the 50-page opinion—made public on the eve of another McCarran Senate subcommittee hearing in New York on Communism in the U. N.—appeared to leave some loopholes for one-time Communists. But the lawyers told Lie unmistakably that it was up to him to inquire into any case where responsible charges raised suspicions.

The legal panel also advised firing any employee who invokes the constitutional ground that he might incriminate himself for refusing to answer whether he was guilty of espionage or subversive activity against the U. S. at any time, or whether he was a member of the American Community party at the time he was questioned.

Party Chiefs Are Called To Tell Campaign Costs

Washington (AP)—Campaign generals were called yesterday to tell House investigators about the high cost of modern political campaigning—especially by TV.

The outcome may be legislation to boost the legal spending limits, now geared to less costly methods of voter wooing.

Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), chairman of a special committee investigating campaign expenditures, announced that both the Republican and the Democratic national chairmen are among witnesses invited to testify in committee hearings starting tomorrow.

"The recent campaign added jet-stops to the whistle-stops, and expensive TV rhetoric to the fire-side chats," Boggs said.

"The enactment of laws which were passed in 1925 and 1939, as were the ones under which we are presently operating, could not possibly have foreseen these drastic changes in campaign techniques and the alarming costs of these techniques."

Limitations imposed on campaign spending by the existing rules have led to questionable practices, he said, which require another look at the law.

The chairman said that estimates of 1952 campaign spending ran from 50 to 100 million dollars.

Hunters Fill Pocono Woods For Big Game

State police and game protectors in both Pike and Monroe Counties late last night were reporting a very heavy influx of hunters from outside the county.

Tracking snow which will hold in the woods throughout the first day of the deer season today is expected to make for good hunting, said Monroe protector John Dooley.

The rush was on for licenses for non-residents all day yesterday, but only the county treasurer sells them—and he's not open Sundays.

Police in Monroe County said the traffic flow was still remarkably heavy as late as 11 p. m. last night. Hundreds of the hunters will have slept in their cars as already-crowded hotels, motels and resorts turned bed-seekers away.

Doebing reported one violation—but it had nothing to do with deer. James Hess, 24, East Stroudsburg RD2, a college student, paid a $20 field fine for trapping two muskrats unlawfully. He barged Thursday. The muskrat trapping season didn't open until Saturday.

The 12-day buck season opens at 9 a. m. today. It will be followed by the Commonwealth's first statewide three-day antlerless deer shoot within memory of the State Game Commission officials.

The extra-long deer season follows the close yesterday of an abbreviated small game season cut by early November drought conditions. The state's some 800,000 nimrods can take to the fields again for small game during a special season Dec. 22-24 and Dec. 26-27.

A large influx of hunters was reported in the big deer areas of the northern tier counties, building up the game commission's hopes for an unusually heavy kill.

Commission officials are hoping that at least 75,000 deer of both sexes will be taken home this year to ease the forage problem and cut down farmers' complaints of damage to crops.

Names Aldrich Ambassador To Great Britain

New York (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday named Winthrop W. Aldrich, New York banker, to be United States ambassador to Great Britain. He will succeed Walter S. Gifford, who is resigning.

Eisenhower also named a special committee to study proposals for streamlining the executive branch of the government.

Announcement of the appointments was made by the general's secretary, Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., who said he talked with Eisenhower yesterday.

Vandenberg said there would be word later yesterday on the general's schedule of appointments and engagements for today.

Gifford, former chairman of the board of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was appointed to the ambassadorship on Sept. 27, 1950, by President Truman. He is 67 and an active Republican.

One of the duties of the special committee, Vandenberg said, will be to represent Eisenhower in development and review of a study of the organization of the government's executive branch, launched last month under the auspices of Temple University.

Vandenberg said the President-elect would respect "with reluctance" the wishes of Ambassador Gifford to resign.

The committee named to represent the President-elect on the committee on government organization will include Nelson A. Rockefeller, former assistant secretary of state and co-ordinator of inter-American affairs; Dr. Arthur S. Flemming of Delaware, Ohio, president of Ohio Wesleyan University and chairman of the Manpower Policy Committee; Office of Defense Mobilization; and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College and brother of the general.

Aldrich, the ambassador-designate to the Court of St. James, is chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank of New York and chairman and director of Chase Safe Deposit Company.

Honeymooners Gravely Hurt In Collision

Portland — A lighthearted honeymoon ended abruptly Saturday night with the bride and groom lying senseless and bleeding in the wreckage of their car here.

The honeymoon started from Scranton shortly after Michael and Gloria Magnot Fischetti, both 24, were married. By 10:30 p. m. their coupe was bowling south along Route 611 near the covered bridge here.

Police Chief Jesse Felker theorized Fischetti fell asleep at the wheel. Just past the bridge where the road curves, the vehicle kept going straight.

The left side scraped along a fuel truck parked at the Dahlman service station. It went on to hit the first gasoline pump with the right side.

Then the coupe was behind the pumps. It crashed into the concrete block service station. The force of the impact caved in a portion of the station's wall, tore out the partition with the grease rack door and window, and hurled a cash register across the room.

The vehicle also smashed into two open 250-gallon drums of drain oil and hurled them into the air. Oil showered the car and area.

Dr. Howard Ott, Portland, gave first aid. Two fire trucks from Portland and one from Mount Bethel stood by on account of the oil and gasoline leakage, Chief Felker said.

An ambulance took the injured couple to the General Hospital. Neither was able to talk at the time. Both had suffered severe head and body injuries.

Looking through the wreckage a short time later, Felker found their marriage certificate. It had been signed the same day.

Fischetti was reported "much improved" last night, but his wife was described as still "very serious."

France Takes Strategic Election For Control Of Vital Saarland Section

Saarbrücken, Monday (AP)—France won a strategic victory in its long struggle with Germany for control of the Saar and its rich coal and steel resources in elections Sunday.

Complete official returns from the voting for a new Parliament showed the French-backed Saar government which supports economic union with France was returned to office by a clear majority.

Pro-German parties, banded from putting up candidates, produced a protest vote of 141,903 blank or invalid ballots, which they claimed showed nearly a third of the Saar supports the "German opposition."

Prime Minister Johannes Hoffmann of the ruling Christian People's party (CVP), however, claimed a decisive victory.

At midnight official returns, with about three-fourths of the vote counted, virtually clinched control of the new Parliament of 50 members for Hoffmann and his party.

Of 310,866 valid votes, the Christian People's party had 170,861, or 55 per cent, compared with only 51.4 per cent in the last election five years ago.

Despite the German demand that voters spoil their ballots in protest, only 26 per cent of the ballots were invalid. Hoffmann claimed that it is normal in any election for about 10 per cent of the ballots to be improperly marked and that this left only about 16 per cent of the Saar voters actually supporting the German protest campaign.

The Social Democratic party was holding its accustomed second position with 100,412 votes, or 32 per cent of the total valid ballots.

Communists, the only party on the ballot advocating the Saar's return to Germany, got a mere 28,644 votes, or nine per cent. The Democratic People's party, a newcomer to Saar politics, trailed far behind with 10,949 votes, or four per cent.

A government spokesman estimated 90 per cent of all eligible voters had cast ballots—a normal turnout.

The heavy vote in a chilling rain shattered the German campaign calling for a boycott of the election.

The West German government had condemned the election after pro-German parties had been barred from the balloting, and called on Saarlanders to protest by staying away from the polls, or by casting blank ballots.

Hoffmann and his party are strong supporters of the postwar separation of the Saar from Germany and its economic annexation to France.

A victory for his party would strengthen France's position in its generations-old struggle with Germany for control of the Saar's 900-square miles of valuable coal mines and steel mills.

The voters, whose tiny but coal-rich border state has been a bone of contention between France and Germany for generations, were torn once again in today's election between their powerful neighbors.

Haywood, Reuther Head For CIO Presidential Battle

Atlantic City (AP)—The CIO divided into two hotly-disputing rival camps yesterday in a convention eve tug-of-war over choosing a successor to the late CIO President Philip Murray.

The two feuding factions were headed by 64-year-old Allan S. Haywood, the CIO's executive vice president, and 45-year-old Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, the CIO's biggest single union.

Reuther and Haywood forces scrambled for votes among the CIO's 35 unions—with the million-plus member steelworkers union supporting Haywood and Reuther depending on his own auto workers union as his mainstay.

A score or more of smaller CIO unions formally lined up on Haywood's side. The group was led by Michael Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union. Quill told newsmen the small unions voted to carry the fight to a showdown on the convention floor, no matter what happened.

Quill was reported to have told the smaller union group that the CIO's top leaders were "hopelessly deadlocked" on choosing a new president and the smaller unions, by remaining banded together, could swing the balance of power.

The leaders allocated 5,600,000 votes among the various unions. This is supposed to reflect accurately the CIO's membership, but sources outside the CIO said the organization's actual membership was possibly four million, or less.

The Haywood forces were reported to have offered Emil Rieve, president of the textile workers, the right to name the CIO's secretary-treasurer.

Would Give Lewis' Miners Wage Increase

Washington, (AP)—The government is reported considering two possible actions in the soft coal wage case, both of which would guarantee John L. Lewis the full $1.90 daily increase for his miners.

The first is an order decontrolling the coal industry, which would remove the possibility of any further government interference with the soft coal contract Lewis signed with the industry in September.

The second is an order overruling the Wage Stabilization Board, which cut 40 cents from the $1.90 increase on grounds that any more than $1.50 would jeopardize the whole stabilization program.

Top officials see some risk in both plans but are inclined to favor the first. They are studying a new report from the Council of Economic Advisers which reportedly concludes that decontrol of the coal industry would not have broad repercussions on the over-all economy.

Two other possible solutions to the coal wage case have been under serious study, but officials who will make the final decision said privately today that neither is likely to be followed. They are:

1. To set in motion a broad decontrol program, starting with the coal industry, which would eventually—possibly in 60 or 90 days—remove controls from all but defense-related items.

2. Let the WSB cut-back order stand and risk an almost certain nationwide coal strike at a time when coal is in heaviest demand.

A decision is expected Monday or Tuesday.

Top White House advisers, headed by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, are said to be convinced that granting the full $1.90, one way or another, would have much less disastrous effects on the defense program and the economy than a long coal strike.

The report from the Council of Economic Advisers is said to stress the fact that most grades of soft coal are now selling well below ceiling prices, and to hold that even with the additional cost which would result from a $1.90 wage boost ceiling prices on a good many varieties of soft coal would remain unchanged.

Pastor Calls For Return To Religion

"The greatest need of the world today is a return to religion, a separation from things of the world, and the sense of a personal need for a higher power," declared Russell R. Adams, a leader in the Stroudsburg Seventh-Day Adventist Church last night.

Speaking at a special Sunday night session of the annual "Week of Prayer and Devotion" at the local Adventist church, the speaker said, "Peace of mind for people today cannot come through some earthly medium, but it can come only through a return to Christ and religion in the individual life."

"More and more church members today are drifting away from all desire for spiritual help and religious comfort," he said. He cited things like financial gain, fashions, sports, intemperance, television and radio along with others that attract people away from the church. "It is time," he said, "for the world to make a decisive separation and return to religion, for it is the only key to world peace."

The special "Week of Prayer" speaker suggested prayer and Bible study for the leaders of the great nations of the world as well as to all thinking citizens as "one way out of the world's dilemma."

"The world's troubles and ills would rapidly diminish if peace of mind could come through Jesus Christ to the leaders of all nations," he concluded.

The local Adventist church is joining with churches all over North America in observing a special prayer week. Special prayers for the new president of the United States were given last night at the close of the address. Included in the service were congregational singing, the reading of a special message from a leading church official and the sermon. The prayer week began last Saturday and will end with the worship service next week-end.

Portland Area Seal Sale Reaches 24 Per Cent Of Eastern County's Quota

Portland—Collection of funds from the sale of Christmas Seals by the Tuberculosis and Health Society of Eastern Northampton County moved slowly forward last week.

Clayton Horton, leader for the Portland area, announced that a total of $97 or 24 per cent of the goal had been collected for the Portland region.

Collections in Bangor amounted to $402.80 or 20 per cent of the quota there; response in Pen Argyl was listed as $229.50 or 27 per cent of the quota; Wind Gap had collected $58 or 19 per cent of the quota and Roseto's total collections were listed at $37 or 21 per cent of the quota.

Horton urged all those who had not, as yet, mailed in their Christmas Seal money to do so as soon as possible.

The leader also announced the setting up of "silent booths" in post offices at Portland, Pen Argyl, Wind Gap and Roseto where those persons who did not receive sheets of seals in the mail may purchase them.

Konya, Turkey, known as Iconium in the days of St. Paul, now has a population of more than 60,000, says the National Geographic Society.

Truck Crashes Stone Wall; Man Arrested

Serious injury was escaped when a man and wife rode their heavy truck down Foxtown Hill until it crashed into a stone wall at the bottom.

Chief James F. McConnell, first officer on the scene, said there fortunately was no south bound traffic at the time.

Driver Seluid Monroe, 43, of New York City, had transported the load of plumbing supplies, lumber and equipment from New York, was bound for Mount Pocono. His wife, Rose, made the trip with him.

About 8:25 a.m., he later told police, another car "turned out in front of me." Monroe said he applied his brakes and tried to bring his vehicle under control to make the curve, but the truck crossed the sidewalk and overturned onto the stone wall in front of the residence of Mr. Mary Smith, 220 Park Ave., Stroudsburg.

The truck was on its left side, with the right door turned toward the sky. In view of the extensive damage, McConnell said, spectators running toward the vehicle were surprised to see the right door open and the couple climb out the "top."

Pfc. Emil J. Weber of the Stroudsburg station directed traffic until arrival of Stroudsburg borough police. Officers William Dwyer and Charles Allen later took over, while Chief McConnell completed his investigation.

A Stroudsburg moving company salvaged the load and took it the rest of the way to Mount Pocono, where it was to be used in the home of T. Maloof.

Monroe was charged by Chief McConnell with driving too fast for conditions. He pleaded guilty before Burgess Hal H. Harris, and paid a $10 fine.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $1,500, and to the stone wall, about $400, police said.

Two Inch Snow Fall Brings Highway Crews Into Action

The year's third snowfall put the State Department Highway crews on the road about 1 a.m. yesterday in Monroe County.

The fall was light but lasted longer than either of the two previous brief storms.

Twelve cinderling crews headed for the chronic bad spots—Foxtown Hill, Stroudsburg; the hill between Swiftwater and Mount Pocono; Effort Mountain; and a nasty stretch between Wind Gap and Saylorsburg—as well as other short stretches of bad road.

Six plows and graders began roaring along the road shoulders, but there wasn't much difficulty, according to Arthur Donnell, department superintendent; the fall amounted to only about two inches.

Donnell said the snow didn't drift anywhere, and that much of it melted off. Highway conditions were generally open, but some slippery and hazardous driving was reported in the Mount Pocono area throughout the day.

Flurries reappeared through the late afternoon, then stopped.

Some sources predicted the possibility of "cracking snow" today, in time for the opening of deer season.

Services Held For Mrs. Setzer

Services for Mrs. Ida Setzer, 68, Kunkletown RD1, were held yesterday at Kresge funeral home, Brodheads, with Rev. Harold Ulmer and Rev. Elwood Heister officiating.

Burial was at Middle Creek Cemetery near Kresgeville. Pallbearers were Lloyd Argot, Paul Felker, James Eckley, Charles Marsh, Kenneth Schlough and Allen Smith.

VFW Plans To Recoup Blood Donor Quota

A deficit in the Monroe County quota of blood contributions for 1952 will be made up Dec. 22, if VFW plans succeed.

The bloodmobile will be at the VFW home that day to take contributions. Details have not yet been arranged. Plans will be completed at a meeting at 8 p. m. tonight at the VFW home. Attending will be LeRoy Mikel, chairman of the blood donor program in Monroe County.

Howard Mount, as chairman of the VFW blood donor committee, said his committee "would like merchants and industry to cooperate as it has in the past" in allowing employees time off to make blood donations on that day.

Six members of the board of directors were elected by VFW members at a meeting last week. They are Ed Palmer, Ed Tweedie, Paul Weary Sr., Victor Morrison, all for three year terms, and Chester Mertens for two years and John Darr for one year.

Skidding Car Plunges Thru Iron Railing

After skidding on snow, a car went through an iron railing and hit an East Stroudsburg house on King St. yesterday.

The driver, Clementine M. Posten, 25, of 119 N. Third St., was uninjured except for a bruise on the knee.

Officers Donald Quick and James Smith said the car was moving west on King St. when it skidded on the snow and went into a bank. The car rebounded and went off the other side of the road, police said, crossing the sidewalk, going through the iron railing and down a short slope to the house.

The impact damaged shingles and the wood along the front entrance of the residence of Leona D. Mery, 28 King St.

Damages were estimated at about $300 to the front end of the car and $150 to the railing and house.

There were no injuries, but the left side of the truck was damaged to the extent of $150, and the Bender auto $175.

Investigation of the accident is being continued, Chief McConnell said.

Dr. David G. Peiffly will be out of his office from Dec. 1st to 3rd.

Car, Truck Are Damaged

Damages of $325 were caused in the collision of a car and truck at Eighth and Phillips Sts., Stroudsburg, at 4:20 p.m. Saturday.

Indirectly, the accident resulted from William F. Bender, 17, of 620 Phillips St., missing his turn, Stroudsburg police indicated.

Chief James F. McConnell said Bender was driving east on Phillips, intending to turn left on Eighth. He missed the turn, stopped a short distance further on and started to back up, police said.

An east-bound truck operated by James R. Tinney, 23, Pen Argyl, started to pass. At that moment Bender started making his left turn, McConnell said. He struck the truck in the side.

There were no injuries, but the left side of the truck was damaged to the extent of $150, and the Bender auto $175.

Investigation of the accident is being continued, Chief McConnell said.

Dr. David G. Peiffly will be out of his office from Dec. 1st to 3rd.

Portland Doctor Suffers Fractured Vertebra In Del. Water Gap Accident

Delaware Water Gap—An East Stroudsburg man pleaded guilty of reckless driving Saturday after an accident which resulted in a fractured vertebra for Dr. Eugene Rushin, Portland.

David L. Besecker, 27, of 1 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, was fined $10 on the charge by Justice of the Peace J. T. Hauser here.

Police Chief Fred Decker said Dr. Rushin was driving north on Route 611 through the borough at about 9:50 a.m. while Besecker was driving toward Portland.

"For no apparent reason," Decker said, Besecker's car swerved across the center line as Rushin's car approached. It hit the doctor's auto in the rear quarter-panel, throwing the physician out of the vehicle.

The doctor's heavy car remained standing where it was hit. The other car "bounced off" and traveled another 75 feet, Decker said.

The accident was witnessed by Maj. Mary Laggan, a WAC bound for Johns Hopkins Hospital duty, who was driving behind the doctor. The car ahead of the doctor was operated by John Huber, 17, Portland, who when he heard about the accident returned to tell Felker he had almost been struck by Besecker's car too, but managed to swerve out of the way.

Decker said Besecker could offer no explanation, said he "didn't know what happened," but added that he'd been working in a diner all night in East Stroudsburg.

As Dr. Rushin lay waiting for the ambulance from the General Hospital to arrive, he told Chief Felker he'd been planning for six years to get a little time off to go deer hunting. The season starts today, but Dr. Rushin will remain in the hospital, where he was reported "in good condition" last night.

Election Day Coming

If you are constrained to believe that this editorial is something written prior to Nov. 4 and held over from that period you are wrong, for the election day we are about to discuss is that of Dec. 15.

And what has Dec. 15 to do with elections, you may ask? Just that on that mid-December day the electors of the several states meet at a place designated by the state legislatures and then and there cast their votes for President and Vice President.

So, actually, President-elect Dwight David Eisenhower was not elected on Nov. 4. And, if you want to be really difficult about the whole business, perhaps he will not be elected, technically, even on Dec. 15. For it is not until Jan. 6, 1953, that the Senate and House meet in joint session, with the president of the Senate presiding, for the electoral votes to be counted by four tellers, two from the Senate and two from the House.

These votes, transmitted by registered mail from the respective states to the president of the United States, are announced as the votes of each state are counted, and during this period objections may be raised in writing signed by at least one Senator and one Congressman.

If any objection is made, and this is never expected, the Senate and House each withdraws and votes separately on it. But since no objection can be sustained if but only one set of electoral votes has been cast, attested, transmitted, and received, there is no likelihood of delay in this final election day on Jan. 6.

All this may seem a bit archaic, and doubtless it is, but until the Congress and the states decide to modernize the method we shall continue to have the electoral vote system in our nation.

How To Figure Taxes

Somebody at the Internal Revenue Bureau has come up with an idea that may have far-reaching effects.

The idea is to teach school children how to fill out income tax forms. Their parents, it seems, aren't doing too well at that chore. One out of every four tax returns contains a mistake. The Bureau reasons that if the kids know how, they can help their parents.

Any bewildered taxpayer, we suspect, will welcome the help of a bright eighth-grader in wading through the tax forms and putting down a set of figures that will satisfy the tax collector.

But has the Internal Revenue Bureau thought what this will do to child psychology? When the youngster sees the size of the bill paid by the old man, he is apt to come to the conclusion that a bright young fellow is a sucker to work.

This could lead to idleness, dependency, contempt for honest toil and a rush by the younger generation into those vocations in which it is possible to hide the take from the tax collector.

Maybe the Internal Revenue Bureau should think twice before perpetrating this bit of education on the youth of the land. Why not keep them in blissful ignorance of their eventual fate for just a few more years? They'll learn about taxes soon enough.

Thomas Jefferson was the first President of the United States to give a public reception at the White House.

Ike's Korean Trip Certain To Give South Koreans Lift

Washington Report — By Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—What can President-elect Eisenhower accomplish in Korea? The British government is convinced he will accomplish nothing.

The Truman administration considers the trip a political stunt.

Only the American people, the South Koreans and the courageous South Koreans expect results from the journey of the President-elect to the battlefield.

The British government is jittery over the journey because of its own policy of appeasement and stupidity in Asia. Truman administration skeptics including the President and his secretary of state, Dean Acheson, write the trip off as a failure before it begins—knowing as they do that if Eisenhower finds a solution their own failure to secure peace will appear that much worse.

Perhaps Eisenhower will accomplish very little in Korea, for the moment. At least little in the way of an immediate ceasefire. But his trip will be the best tonic possible for the battered South Koreans, who have had to deal not only with a Communist enemy, but with a President and State Department that have consistently attempted to undermine and abandon them.

Never before has an American President-elect gone to the front lines in a foreign country; never before have American troops been fighting a war they are forbidden to win. Against the backdrop of these two unprecedented facts in history, an unprecedented solution is not only possible but probable, despite the forces arrayed against Eisenhower.

South Koreans want more weapons and a removal of United Nations shackles so they can fight the kind of war that will bring victory. U. S. officers want to tell Eisenhower what is needed to win and receive his assurances that it is forthcoming. They are tired of dying while the diplomats talk.

Can we win in Korea? No responsible military man has ever doubted it. We have an arsenal of unused atomic weapons; we have ample airplanes, guns and ships. The only trouble is that they have been spent on the cold war instead of the hot war.

The Communist-dominated United Nations, egged on by the British and Indian governments, is determined to force acceptance of another truce talk formula before serious drama; but where a writer of his stature is most needed is in the field of radio and video comedy, where the ability and the taste are pretty low, with a few notable exceptions . . . Whatever became of all the Roosevelts in the political picture?

Some Pentagon experts who object to going to war without a plan for victory say we can halt Communist China by diverting less than 15 per cent of our combat-ready aircraft from Europe to Asia. Others simply want to load the aircraft presently there with atomic weapons.

We are losing 1,000 fighting men a week in Korea. Our Allies, principally the South Koreans, are losing thousands more. Yet the front lines never vary more than a few feet a week. The Chinese Communist war industry grows steadily stronger. Soviet military pipe-lines to China grow constantly larger.

By not winning in Korea we are losing. Eisenhower already knows this. So do Truman, Acheson, the British and UN officials. Eisenhower is in a position to do something about it. The others have demonstrated that they are not. A decision to assault Communist China will be no greater gamble than the initial gamble of sending American troops into Korea was in the first place.

This time, however, Eisenhower will know where he is going. Truman, Acheson and Company did not. The difference could be peace in Korea.

There are seven primary colors in a rainbow—violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red.

Practical Politics Makes Presidential Assistant's Task Complicated Affair

These Days — By George Sokolsky

The Assistant President — One of the most perplexing problems that has faced every President in recent years is the immense amount of work that he must do personally. Generally he has to labor over details from the time he rises until he goes to bed. There is little leisure for contemplation. Actually, no man can consume the vast amount of material that passes over a President's desk.

Mr. Roosevelt tried to solve that by the appointment of six administrative assistants with a passion for anonymity but they did not long remain anonymous. Such men as Lauchlin Currie and David Niles involved the President in major difficulties. President Truman was more fortunate with Dr. John R. Steelman, but he got into trouble over other White House assistants, particularly over Gen. Harry Vaughan.

The Hoover Commission proposed a reorganization of the White House staff and the appointment of an executive assistant to the President. This is an application of the usual principles of management to the largest business enterprise in the world. President-elect Eisenhower has appointed Governor Sherman Adams to this job.

Eisenhower is accustomed to the Army plan of organization which calls for a clearly defined chain of command. In effect, Governor Adams becomes the President's Chief-of-Staff. This could make for efficient operations, except that the President of the United States is a political as well as a managerial official.

Without in any way reflecting on Sherman Adams, it can be said that he will face the same difficulties that Roosevelt and Truman faced, namely, that Cabinet officers insist on dealing directly with the President; that Senators and Congressmen take umbrage at not being able to reach him; that when an Administration bill is before Congress, grudge votes can be crucial. Perhaps General Eisenhower and Governor Adams possess personalities which can overcome the habits of a century of direct, time-consuming, often wasteful personal relations between the other officials and the President, and it would be interesting to see them work it out.

The Eisenhower Administration starts with one strike against it, namely, that it has no working majority in the Congress. To be effective in the legislative branch of the Government, it will be necessary for the Republicans to have the assistance of some Democrats. Few important measures ever have a solid party support, there always being a few Senators to cross the line. For instance, Senators Lodge and Morge crossed the line and voted with the Democrats on many important measures; Senators Byrd and McCarran often voted with the Republicans.

Without a working majority, the Republicans may have a very tough time unless the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition holds. During the Truman Administration, Senators Taft and Byrd held that coalition together. Whether their influence is as strong as it has been, with Harry Truman removed as the target, remains to be seen. No one can forecast the relations between a President and Congress until important legislative business is actually up for a vote.

Granted that any reasonable man would favor relieving the President of the mountain of detail which binds him to his desk, almost a prisoner in the White House, it nonetheless is also true that there is not a four year period to try things out, but only two years. Each member of the House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate has to be elected in 1954 and their minds are even now focused on that event. Personal relations between members of Congress and the President is of political importance to the aspirant for reelection.

As a matter of cold politics, the Republicans must win the 1954 election. Some of General Eisenhower's adherents believe that Democrats will support him personally without regard to party. But when 1954 comes around, there will be two candidates for each office, and the two party system will prevail because that is the only way men can be elected in this country.

The Democrats, to win seats in Congress, will lambast the Republicans. The Republicans will have to defend their President, for while he will not be running for office, every Republican who does run will insist on using the name of Eisenhower to help get himself elected.

This is practical politics and there is no way around it. An assistant President can serve in management; whether he can help politically is very uncertain.

The Broadway Show

First-Nights: The critics celebrated Thanksgiving Week with pilgrims from France and Greece . . . The Parisian troupe offered "Occu-pe-toi d'Amelie" and zee sharm-ing crotchets zo (how you say?) zeelighted. Voila! De luxe entertainment, they reported . . . Another Gallic offering, "La Repetition on L'Amour Puni," also came through in crepe suzette style . . . The National Theatre of Greece triumphed again in "Oedipus Tyrannus." Reviewer Dmitri Hawkins (of The Worldtelsun) had a word for the Greeks, "Perfection" . . . An American comedy named "Time Out for Ginger" was generally dunked in lukewarm notices. The warmest wordage was inspired by Melvyn Douglas' spoofing but The Mirror's constable thought leading lady Polly Rowles was the most delicious thing in the tid-bitty show. Prof. Brooks Atkinson (of the N. Y. Times) dissented. He found it "fresh, warm-hearted and funny" . . . The Herald-Trib's undertaker, Mr. Kerr, intoned: ". . . the sort of play that ought to go lie down someplace, and last night, I think it did."

In the Wings: The two foreign productions on Broadway (Greek and French) reminded us of this Wilson Mizer gag . . . The wit wandered into a Chinese Theater on Mott Street . . . The show was, of course, in Chinese . . . After the asbestos fell, his companion inquired: "What did you think of it?" . . . They brought it into New York too quick!" snarled Wilson.

Cine-magic: A kiddie-drama called "Outpost in Malaya" has Claudette Colbert on a rubber plantation giving the taut tale a 3-way stretch . . . "The Thief of Venice" offers eye-catching scenery and a yawn-collecting scenario . . . "Julius Caesar" was produced by Northwestern Univ. (for $15,000!) and wins its E for Entertainment . . . "Kansas City Confidential" is reported to be a better-than-average meller concerning that city's biggest crooks this side of the Truman Gang . . . "It Grows on Trees" is an amusing whimsical film with Irene Dunne as top tickle . . . A superior Italian import titled "The Cliffs of Sin" strips down to the bare facts of life . . . "Horizons West" presents cattle-saddle-die-fiddle-faddle . . . "Hans Christian Andersen" stars D. Kaye. Some critics found it a charming fairy tale made of Stardust, Moonbeams and Rainbows.

Stairway to the Stars: Broadway's Botte Davis' first Broadway-bound show ("Two's Company") did not gain the patty-cakes of the Boston bean-shooters—it is playing a merry tune on the cash register there (Eas-Are-Oh) . . . "Dance for Joy" is more like a funeral march, according to Variety's Pittsburgh pot-shooter. He riddled it with: "Dull, humorless and strictly amateurish." (He means nh-nh.) . . . Gloria DeHaven may sign for Rodgers & Hammerstein's new Spring musical . . . Dana Suesse wrote the score, "Giri Without a Name," the original song and theme of "Seven Year Itch." Some people think the music played throughout the hit are recordings. Gleb Yellin, the conductor and pianist, worked for weeks to attain what appears mechanical perfection. "Seven Year Itch" is the Town's Top Ticket. Scalpers are getting wealthier on it—and it isn't a fort-night old. Author George Axelrod turned down $100,000 for the screen rights. He is only 30 . . . Paul Hartman was in and out of "Two's Company" so fast, the Lindians are calling him "Speedy Gonzales."

The Televisions: NBC's "At Home with Robert Frost" offered a provocative gabfest with the eminent poet. His words provided their own music . . .

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

A course to teach women the management of money has been started in New York City by the American Federation of Women Shareholders in American Business, Inc.

I don't think women need a course in money management.

Any woman who manages a household, nowadays, certainly knows how to manage her—or her husband's—money.

The president of the Federation, whose spouse is an executive of a very large chain of grocery stores, certainly ought to be acquainted with woman's proclivity to manage money wisely.

Nevertheless, in a statement she said, "Women have always been prisoners of ignorance. They have always wanted this kind of education but never knew where to find it."

I beg to differ.

What woman has not had to do hours of haggling over money with her husband?

What woman has not learned to pinch every penny until that penny started to yell for mercy?

What woman has not had to keep her husband from spending many otherwise needed dollars for all kinds of gadgets and useless appliances?

What woman is not a natural born guardian of the household treasury and an inveterate lover of bargains?

I heard a comedian the other night who said that a $26,000 automobile did not sell very well. So they reduced its price to $19,999.95 and the car started to sell like hotcakes. Every woman who read about the "sale" rushed to her nearest automobile dealer to get in on the bargain.

Only a few days ago my wife tried to sell me on roast pork. It was much cheaper than beef, she said.

She argued and argued and finally we settled on a lamb roast, which is the next cheapest meat to beef.

By the time we got through arguing I was so sick of any kind of meat I took my wife out to dinner that night and the lamb roast is still in our freezer.

By the way—and this has nothing to do with the story—I want to register a warning to all housewives.

Never talk to your husbands about dinner right after breakfast. Yet, most wives discuss the night's menu with their spouses when they are full or orange juice and ham and eggs.

Who can think of dinner on a full stomach?

I think it is a very good idea to surprise your husband.

Just before lunch, and around five o'clock, he has all kinds of nice dreams about what his wife is going to have for dinner.

And even if the dinner turns out to be hash and lima beans—two of my pet aversions—at least he has had his dream.

And here are some statistics published by the Federation which are supposed to prove how badly women need a course in money management: 62 per cent of all married women are widowed. Of the 8 per cent who remarry, 75 per cent are re-widowed. Eight per cent of all the women never marry at all.

For some unknown reason one of the subjects in the new course will be "The Art of Self-Defense." You figure that one out.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

An exasperated housewife once wrote the late Will Cuppy, "Can't you help me get my husband to stop reading the paper at breakfast? It's driving me crazy!" Cuppy replied, "As your husband undoubtedly reads the paper at breakfast in order to find out what is going on in the world and thus fit himself for his daily grind at the office, you might ask him just to give up his business or profession. Tell him you married him for himself alone and don't give a darn whether he makes a living or not. If you feel strongly enough on the subject, you might even let him know in a tasteful way that you will go out yourself and earn the rent if he will only give up this annoying habit. Maybe you can work it so there WON'T even BE ANY BREAKFAST."

It is only fair to add that Will Cuppy represented a male point of view—a male, furthermore, who was an editor on a big city newspaper.

"TLL say he's impossible! Last night I practically swooned in his arms . . . and he got me a glass of water!"

Howdy Folks!

A couple of weeks ago we were talking about Christmas cards and comparing them with Christmas photographs. Today we'd like to take up where we left off.

How long does it take you to mail all those cards to your friends? Probably just a few minutes. But how long does it take to get them ready for mailing? We all know that's a different story!

It's the same with photographs. How long does it take for a portrait sitting? A minute, five minutes, fifteen minutes...? Whatever it is, it's only a fraction of the time needed to skillfully develop and print the best type of portrait possible.

Why not make arrangements for that Christmas Gift Portrait or family group? We'll be pleased to make appointments to suit your convenience.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

New month . . . bright ideas! And perhaps the brightest idea we offer at Wyckoff's these days leading to Christmas is the Shopping Card. Did you ever use one? Well, our sales people are pretty busy just now, and may overlook telling you about them, so I will.

A shopping card is an easy way of shopping, because it eliminates your need to carry packages. You visit every department in the store, and buy everything from shoe laces to a tricycle, but all you must carry around is one tiny card, which you obtain from the first person who assists you. When you tell her you wish to use the Shopping Card service (which is entirely free of course) she will ask if your purchases are going to be charge or cash. Cash and charge purchases are never combined on one card, you see. She will also want to know your name and address.

After your purchase is made and the card filled out, the salesperson will return the card to you and you will take it along to the next person who serves you.

When your shopping is complete, you will go to the Shopping Card center in our electrical appliance store, where someone will wrap all of your purchases together, and arrange their delivery if you wish. In this center also, any special gift wrapping you may desire will be done for a small charge. There is a wide variety of paper and ribbon to choose from, and in a twinkling, everything will be ready for its appearance Christmas morning under the tree.

The Shopping Card is one of our most popular Wyckoff Christmas services, and we recommend its use. We also suggest that you further simplify your shopping by hanging your coat on the mezzanine and making yourself right at home. My personal opinion is that the Shopping Card is just as important to Christmas as the greeting card—and it's the Wyckoff way of saying we hope this will be the happiest, easiest yule season you've ever known.

HERE AND THERE: Viola Feltham proves once again what a clever girl she is, by taking gift lace from our stationery department, and winding it spiral fashion around plain white tapers. Fastened top and bottom with a bit of wax, this becomes a decorative part of the candle, and burns right along with it, without smoke or ash. It's an inexpensive, looks-like-a-million idea, and a Christmas present in advance from me to you . . . Blanche Mackey also has a glittery notion. Drawing bells, Christmas trees, or letters on a package with the glue brush, she sprinkles tinsel flecks over the goody outline. The shimmery design makes the package as timely as a carol . . . Marion Leedom shows me a small, hand-carved creche from Germany so beautifully done, one can see the tiny fingers on the kneeling Virgin. The word "Oberammergau" appears on the base. Could be this was carved by someone who has participated in the famed Passion Play, and who feels, profoundly, the story of Christmas.

Cyphers Has Wagner Home Heater Unit

If you're tired of babying a stubborn old furnace that continually gobbles up your coal and money, then you have a prospective friend in Claude S. Cyphers, 548 Ann St., Stroudsburg.

With Winter just around the corner we'll all have another kind of heat to think about.

No one knows if this next Winter will be mild or cold, but one thing is sure: Every homeowner will want good, economical heat to insure a warm, comfortable house at all times.

With the Wagner-Stoker-Furnace unit, sold by Claude S. Cyphers, you can really be assured of convenient, economical, automatic heat.

With the Wagner unit you get low-cost advantages of automatic anthracite heat. Mr. Cyphers points out that anthracite, or hard coal, is the lowest smokeless fuel satisfactory for home use.

Anthracite also has big advantages when burned with automatic stoker equipment.

The Wagner-Stoker-Furnace unit automatically heats your home with warm, clean, filtered air. It is compact and efficient—and you don't pay for materials that aren't needed, Mr. Cyphers adds.

It is a complete, self-contained heater designed to deliver in your living quarters the maximum amount of heat for the coal burned.

And it is automatic, relieving you of the daily chores of heater tending. It heats any home—even up to an eight-room home—at the lowest possible cost.

Ethan Allen Furniture At Millers

Homemakers who can't decide whether to buy something old or something new in furniture should see the large collection of Baumritter's Ethan Allen Traditional furniture at A. C. Miller, 4th and Main St.

This Early American collection at once satisfies a desire for informality and warmth by bringing a spirited modern feeling to traditional designs.

All pieces in this broad, open-stock collection are of birch and rock maple—available in a smart, rich brown tone called "Nutmeg," or in the familiar "mellow maple" color. Hand-rubbed to bring out the beauty of the fine cabinet wood grains, these finishes will blend beautifully with colonial or modern accessories.

There are over 100 pieces in the Ethan Allen collection, suitable for every room in your home. Small or large, boy's room, girl's room, guest room, dinette, living dining room? Any one of them can be tastefully furnished from this group.

Because all ETHAN ALLEN pieces are open-stock, any basic setting can be "added to" as time goes on for Ethan Allen is planned to grow with your home.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Monroe County was well represented at the Army and Navy football game in Philadelphia on Saturday, with no less than 10 local residents being in view among the 102,000 people jammed into sprawling Municipal Stadium. The 10 included Mr. and Mrs. Will Kramer Sr., Bonnie Arnold, Will Jr., Doris Mering, Jean Newhart, Ruth Wagner, Nita Warner and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kist. There were undoubtedly others, but this scribe and the wife didn't see any additional local residents in the huge crowd. Stan Kupinski, a graduate of Tobyhanna Township High, was somewhere among the happy throng of Middies that cheered their team to victory.

Is John "Juice" Arnet, East Stroudsburg tackle, headed for Notre Dame or Penn State after graduation in June? Dick Mering, Eastburg back, is casting eyes in the direction of Southern California, but Rutgers reportedly is casting eyes in the direction of East Stroudsburg and Mering. Leon Alberts, another Eastburg back, wants to study for the ministry after graduating from high school in June, with Southern Methodist or Dickinson being top choices at the present time. There are undoubtedly other members of the East Stroudsburg grid squad hopeful of entering college next September.

At Adelmann, a three-letter athlete at Stroudsburg High and captain of both the football and basketball squads, would give most anything to earn an appointment at Annapolis next September. Bill Bailey has received two offers from colleges and the hard running East Stroudsburg fullback would like nothing better than to continue his grid career in the college ranks. Other members of the Stroudsburg contingent will also probably enter college next fall. There were a lot of good students on both the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg grid squads this season.

Jack Kist, football and baseball coach at East Stroudsburg High school, has been added to the scouting ranks of the St. Louis Browns and will begin work for Bill Veeck and company next spring. The scouting will be done during the spring and summer months. The East Stroudsburg grid machine, winner of eight of nine games played this season, apparently is in line for a host of banquets spaced throughout the next month or two. The banquet circuit for the purple and white color bearers is slated to start tomorrow night, when Wade Arnet plays host to the Cavaliers for the second straight year. The East Stroudsburg Exchange club plans an All-Sports banquet for all three varsity athletic teams at East Stroudsburg High next spring.

This column has learned through reliable source that the Philadelphia Phillies have been trying to purchase the contract of Harry Warner from the Boston Braves for the past two years, but the latter has refused to sell the towering first sacker. Warner is a resident of Reeders and a former outstanding athlete in this area. The Phillies missed their chance to grab Harry, when he attended one of their baseball schools some years back. Warner is scheduled to join Milwaukee, of the "AAA" American Association, in the spring.

Everyone appears to be agreed that Jim Kintz, right halfback for the East Stroudsburg Cavaliers, played probably the best game of his scholastic career against Stroudsburg last Thursday. Kintz ran brilliantly in the second half, despite the fact that his nose dripped blood virtually throughout the third and fourth quarters. Although he made a couple visits to the sidelines during the second half, it was only long enough for the Kintzmen to run one play and Jim to wipe the blood from his nose before he returned to action.

Brenny Jones, football coach at Brookville High, and a spectator at last week's "Battle of the Boroughs," has won 36 games, lost 17 and tied one during his short coaching career. Jones graduated from Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Wilson Borough loses 21 gridriders through graduation in June, but according to reports it won't make any difference, because Coach Judd Hall has at least 15 top-notch replacements to fill the many holes. It was common for Wilson, who used the two-platoon system, to send 28 men into action in a single game during the season just completed.

Bangor High will feature girls' basketball on an interscholastic basis this season for the first time since the 1937-1938 campaign. A total of 33 candidates reported for the squad last week. A large crowd was on hand for the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg grid battle last week before 8 a.m. However, the main portion of the throng began arriving on the scene about a half hour later. Even those with reserved seats put in an early arrival. All reserved seat tickets for the contest were sold by at least 5 p.m. last Wednesday.

Pocono High To Feature Fifteen Game Court Slate

Greene-Dreher To Launch Season Friday

Tannersville—Pocono High school will launch a 15-game basketball schedule on Friday, when the charges of Coach Harry Werkheiser play host to Greene-Dreher-Sterling High here on the former's home court. A junior varsity and varsity contest will be held on the opening bill of the season.

Pocono is slated to battle Greene-Dreher-Sterling a second time this season, in fact a week from Friday, at Newfoundland. The blue and white clad engers have three additional pre-season games on the agenda, two exhibitions to be held with foes that will later be met twice in Monroe County League encounters. The league rivals listed for pre-season games are Coalingham and Chestnuthill.

Blairtown winds up its pre-league action by meeting Blairtown, N. J. High on Friday, December 19, at Blairtown. Only one game is slated between Blairtown and Pocono this season, while two meetings was the order in recent years. The Werkheiser men will take part in the Monroe County League flag chase, which features 10 games, in January and February.

Pocono has taken part in two practice games with a combination varsity-junior varsity contingent from Stroudsburg High in recent weeks. All of the home games to be played by Pocono will feature the junior varsity battle at 7:15 p. m. and the main event approximately one hour later.

Schedule follows:

December 5	Greene-Dreher	Home
December 9	Coalingham	Away
December 12	Greene-Dreher	Away
December 16	Chestnuthill	Away
December 19	Blairtown	Home

Old Forge To Meet Sunbury

Seranton (P)—Old Forge and Sunbury High schools play Saturday at Old Forge Stadium for the 1952 championship of the 53-member Eastern Football Conference.

Old Forge qualified for the play-off Saturday when the Blue Devils were declared number one in the circuit's Northern Division on the basis of a complicated point system. They finished 36 points in front of Wilkes-Barre GAR, a surprise second.

Third Place

West Scranton, which battled Old Forge for the top standing through most of the season, was dropped to third on the final list with 611 points, three under GAR, by a 6-6 tie against Dunmore Thanksgiving Day.

Swoyersville, the defending conference titlist, was fourth. Sunbury's Owls, walked off with the southern crown a week ago with six league wins in six tries when Minersville (10-1-0) took a surprising licking at the hands of Coal Twp., 19-6.

Pottsville, 15th in the division this year, won it last season.

LaStarza Gets Shot At Jones

New York (AP)—Boxing perks up on all fronts this week with enough good scraps to make even the most demanding fan happy. The program opens today with a bang. In a 10-rounder which will be telecast in some parts of the country, Roland LaStarza, the number four heavyweight from New York, will seek to avenge his startling upset by "Rocky" Jones of Philadelphia. The bout will be held at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena and will be telecast by Dumont.

Upset

Jones, a run of the mill boxer, won a unanimous decision over the handsome New Yorker at Akron, O., on October 9. It was the third defeat for LaStarza, who has won 51 bouts.

Wilcox Big Help To Grid Sport At Stroudsburg High

By Jim Riley

Junior varsity is an important part of modern scholastic football and the man in charge of this branch of the grid sport at Stroudsburg High school is William George Wilcox, an eager youth, who came east instead of going west to seek his fortune. Wilcox is better known as Bill and has turned in a terrific job in all departments at the W. Main St. school.

Wilcox, now 24 years of age, is a native of Duke Center, Pa., approximately eight miles from Bradford, in McKean County. The five foot-11 inch, 185-pound grid mentor graduated from Otto Township High school in 1936, where he first tasted the fruits of athletics.

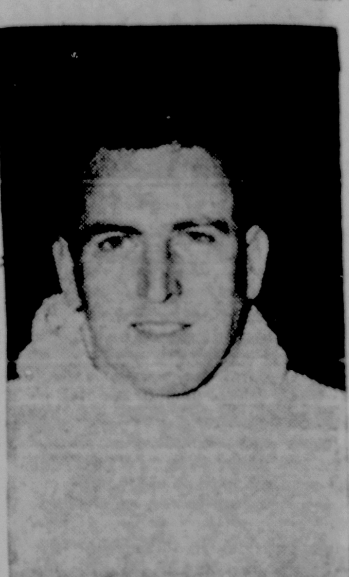

Bill played both football and basketball in high school, holding down a guard position in football for four years and also playing guard on the cage machine for three seasons.

After graduating from high school Wilcox took his ming at army life, where he reached the rank of corporal at Fort Knox, Kentucky. The Stroudsburg junior varsity grid mentor spent about 18 months in the service and then opened his college career upon returning to civilian life.

Enters ESSTC

Bill entered East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in January of 1949. Wilcox played three years of football up on Normal Hill, on the junior varsity one season and the varsity two campaigns, holding down a guard berth each year. Bill didn't play during his senior year at ESSTC. Wilcox graduated from the local college in January of this year and served as a temporary teacher through June. However, Bill's work was so satisfactory during his half year on the job that he was asked back in September of the present school agenda.

Bill Wilcox

The husky junior varsity grid coach is one of the newest and youngest members of the Stroudsburg High faculty. Wilcox is a teacher of driver training in the high school and physical education in the Stroudsburg grade schools.

Wilcox is married to the former Dorothy Pine, a former student at Pocono High and a graduate of both East Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Mrs. Wilcox graduated from ESSTC in 1950.

Bill's biggest thrill in sports was blocking a kick and scoring a touchdown in high school, the only six-pointer he ever scored in scholastic or collegiate ranks. However, Wilcox turned the same trick at Fort Knox, while playing guard and helping to coach a battalion team at that base.

The new member of the Stroudsburg coaching staff has two hobbies, namely, fishing and hunting. Bill takes advantage of both hobbies when ever possible.

Bill's first year at the coaching racket was successful, as the Stroudsburg yearlings came up with three victories in five outings. However, praise from members of the varsity club also indicates that Wilcox is just beginning a successful coaching career—it couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

Penn State Gridders Set Eight Records

State College (P)—A 22-year-old quarterback from Steelton, Pa., wearing number 22 on his Penn State football jersey this season, establishing five new school records with his strong right arm.

Tony Rados, sometimes known as the Steelton slingshot, hasn't yet been called the best passer ever to wear a Nittany Lion uniform, but on the basis of the revised record books, he's the best in many a season.

Aided by a new T-style attack which emphasizes the aerial game the Lions compiled eight new school standards—all in the past season department they had their best season in five years, winning seven, losing two and tying one. Setbacks were suffered at the hands of Michigan State and Syracuse.

New Marks

Rados, a junior, accounted for these new records: Best passing completion mark for one season, 50 per cent, 83 of 186. Best career passing mark for a player, 118 of 254. Most yardage in one game by passing, 192 against Purdue. Most completed passes in one game, 17 against Purdue. Most yardage by passing in one season.

A pass receiving record was established by State's outstanding basketball star, Jesse Arnette, New Rochelle, N.Y. He caught 31, two better than Lenny Krouse in 1941.

The '52 team gathered in 26 enemy passes for a team record in interceptions. Jack Sherry and Don Eyer each intercepted eight, bettering by two the previous mark set by Bob Pollard last year.

Five State Stars Sign For Contest

State College, (P)—Five Penn State football seniors have signed to play in the annual Blue-Grey and North-South post season games late in December.

Players

They are: Jim Doolery, center; Don Barney, line backer, and Bill Leonard, halfback, who will see action with the Blue side in the Blue-Grey game December 21.

Joe Gratson, line backer; and Stewart Scheetz, tackle, who will play with the North eleven in the annual shrine game at Miami Christmas night.

Robinson himself was the first Negro to play modern major league baseball, breaking in with the Dodgers in 1947 after a year in the minors. He was signed by Branch Rickey, then general manager of the Brooklyn club.

The Yankees defeated the Dodgers, four games to three, in the World Series last month.

Alleys Hit By Fire

Pittsburgh (AP)—A two-alarm fire caused $25,000 damage yesterday at the Strand Bowling Alleys in Pittsburgh's Oakland section. Cause was not immediately determined.

Prince Dare In Upset

Bowie, Md.—Prince Dare ($22.40) scored a surprise upset victory in the $50,000 added Maryland Gold Cup feature race at Bowie on Saturday.

Navy Mentor Labels Present Squad Best In Last Three Years

Philadelphia (P)—Coach Edward Erdelatz calls this the finest of the three Navy football teams he has coached, and for a very unique reason—it has "no heroes."

"No big shots on this squad," said the 37-year-old graduate of St. Mary's College (Calif.), yesterday, reviewing the midshipmen's 6-2-1 season record and their 7-0 triumph over Army in Saturday's service classic.

"I think I had better material in 1950 and 1951 but those teams didn't have the desire this bunch has. This has been a hard, little knot of players who loved football."

Navy experienced losing seasons in 1950 and 1951 but rallied to whip Army both times, 14-2 and 42-7. This put Erdelatz in a class with the late "Swede" Larson as the only Navy coach to beat Army three times in a row.

The millions who witnessed the Municipal Stadium battle on television Saturday must still be talking about the unusual number of fumbles and Army's remarkable goal-line stands.

Ten times Navy took a whack at the Army line from within the five-yard line and only once did anybody cross it. That was when Phil Monahan slid over in the first period with the winning touchdown.

"Our defensive platoon played beyond its capabilities," said Army's coach Earl "Red" Blaik afterwards. He acknowledged keen disappointment, adding, "We thought we were going to win."

The fantastic fumbling started early. President Truman, one of the 102,000 spectators, set the tenor when he dropped the dollar coin on the pre-game toss and deftly recovered his own fumble.

That was more than Army and Navy could do during the ensuing two hours. Navy fumbled eight times and lost the ball on five of these occasions. Army had three fumbles, all gobbled up by Navy.

Minor Leagues Open Draft Today

Phoenix, Ariz., (AP)—Baseball's annual bargain basement sale—the player draft—opens a week long series of important major and minor league meetings today with prospects of a light selection from the list of some 1,500 eligible players.

Only 18 minor leaguers were drafted by the majors for $169,000 last year. The list of prospects looks even thinner this year when the major league draft is being held in conjunction with the minors' convention for the first time.

Branch Rickey's Pittsburgh Pirates, last in the National and thus first in the draft, are expected to dig into Brooklyn's player reservoir with a pick from the talent-loaded Montreal roster in the International League.

At Phoenix, Ariz., George M. Weiss, vice president of the Yankees, denied Robinson's charge.

"Our attitude," said Weiss, "al ways has been that when a Negro comes along who can play good enough ball to win a place on the Yankees we will be glad to have him, but not just for exploitation."

Weiss said there are a number of Negro players in the Yankees' farm system.

Weiss is here for the annual baseball conventions.

Giants, Eagles Frisco Drop Important Tilts

By Ed Corrigan

New York, (P)—The Cleveland Browns broke a three-way tie for first place in the American Conference of the National Football League yesterday by crushing the Washington Redskins, while the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles were absorbing up-sets.

In the National Division, the defending champions, the Los Angeles Rams, 34-21, turned back the San Francisco 49ers, to go into a first place tie with the Detroit Lions. The result knocked the 49ers out of contention for the title. This was the only action in the National section.

Before the start of hostilities, the Browns, Giants and Eagles all were tied for the American lead, each with six victories against three losses, and all were favorites to sail through the day's action.

Only One

But as it turned out, only the Browns performed up to expectations, slugging the Redskins, 48-21. The Pittsburgh Steelers, heretofore one of the weak sisters of the loop, tagged the Giants with a 63-7 pasting—the most lopsided score ever run up on the New Yorkers—and the Chicago Cardinals squeaked past the Eagles, 28-22.

The Browns, defending champions in the division, had to come from behind a 14-0 deficit in the first five minutes, and for that time it looked as though the 'Skins were going to turn in the reversal of the day.

But once Otto Graham found the range, it was no ball game. Otto threw two touchdown passes for 12 and 39 yards, and scored twice himself, on a quarterback sneak and an end run for two yards.

Eddie Lobaron did a good job for the losing cause. He tossed passes for all three Redskins scores.

The Steeler triumph—especially the ease with which it was accomplished through the Giants famed defense which had allowed the opposition only 107 points in nine games—was the big surprise of the day.

The Giants couldn't score until the third period on a 78-yard pass-double lateral play, with Bill Stirling finally going over.

Jimmy Finks was the main thorn in the side of Steve Owen's team. He threw four touchdown passes to bring his season's total to 18, a Steeler scoring record. He was aided and abetted by Lynn Chandler, who went over twice—once on a 91-yard run with the opening kickoff.

To make it completely emphatic, Gary Kerorian pinc-kicked eight extra points and Ray Mathews added a seventh point after the ninth.

Revived

The Cardinals had lost five straight and were not expected to put up much of a battle against the Eagles. Philadelphia gained 344 yards from scrimmage to the Cards' 178, but when the chips were down, the Chicagoans held. Time and again tackle Jerry Groom plastered Eagle Quarter-back Bobby Thomason for losses. Ollie Matson scored twice for the winners on runs of 79 and 13 yards.

The Eagles managed to tally twice in the second half. Thomason hit Harry Grant with a 30-yard heave and Adrian Burke connected with Bobby Walston for the other score.

Y. A. Tittle pitched for all three touchdowns for the 49ers, but his one-man show was not enough to offset the efforts of Norm Van Brocklin and Bob Waterfield for the Rams.

Van Brocklin threw one pass for a score while Waterfield added two field goals and converted four times. Fullback Dan Towler scored twice and V. T. Smith once.

Honesdale, Lake Township Nip Foes In Wayne County Openers

Newfoundland—Honesdale was hard pressed to down Damascus, 51-45, and Lake Township romped over Pleasant Mount, 70-39, in opening games of the Wayne County Basketball Conference Friday night.

Park and Schroeder paced the Honesdale attack as they netted 30 points between them in a game that was a toss-up right down to the final minute. Bob Fuchs, Damascus forward, was top producer for the host Swordsmen with 20 pointers.

Lake Township made the Mounties' home opener something less than a happy occasion as they led throughout the one-sided contest. Shaffer, with 23 points, and Henter, with 15, were the Lakers' heavy artillery while Leather dropped 14 points in a losing cause.

Favored

Waymart, defending champions of three years standing and favored to repeat, opens its WCC season at home Friday night with the Hawley Buckhorns. The Warriors have won three and lost one in exhibitions this season. They have walloped St. Rose, Catholic League powerhouse, Mayfield and Susquehanna, Eastern Susquehanna loop champs, losing only to Forest City, 46-40.

Other games this week include Honesdale at North Wayne on Tuesday and Pleasant Mount at Honesdale and Damascus at North Wayne on Friday.

Aliquippa Nips Washington, 13-12

Pittsburgh, (P)—Aliquippa High School's football team won its first WPIAL class "AA" championship Saturday by edging Washington 13-12 before 7,998 chilled fans at Pitt Stadium.

With less than two minutes remaining, Washington scored its second touchdown and a chance for a tie but the Washington try for the extra point was blocked.

Scoring

Halfback Willie Frank ran 28 yards for Aliquippa's first touchdown in the second quarter and fullback George Trbovich plunged over from the one-yard line in the final period for the second. Quarterback George Sarris passed to end Ernie Pitts for the extra point that gave Aliquippa the victory.

Pre-Season

Chestnuthill, coached by Otto "Junior" Mills, has listed a pre-season attraction with Pocono High, a league rival, at Tannersville.

The Chestnuthill contingent also has a home and home series carded with the Stroudsburg junior varsity as a pre-league season attraction.

Pin Spots

By Cal Counterman

A week ago we had a new high single set for the men as Steve Sobrinsky hit 268 in the Industrial League. He got the big one after games of 171 and 181 for the total of 629. This eases the high single up one pin and the higher it gets, the harder to beat. Last year high single was set by Al Andress at 297 on December 13, in the "A" league and it held up all year.

Stroudsburg Auto Body ran up against an opponent last week when they met the Mountain Cleaners crew. The Cleaners cleaned up taking three points from the team that hadn't lost a point since the opening night when they lost one single marker. This paves the way for the Cleaners as they are now just four points out of first place. While this may have been the match of the night in the "B" league, Randall Ott was busy for Otto's Grand View hitting a 625 on high single of 239.

Palace Diner took four points from Chestnut Grove in the East Stroudsburg Ladies last Tuesday to tie for first place in the league. Quick's Lounge stayed in the race as it took three and are just two points out. Lena Dippie was high with 219 and 504 for the night.

At the Legion on Monday, the Commandos took three points from the Air Corps. The Commandos seem to have regained their form after a slow start as the last two weeks saw them hitting in old style. Vince Marek and Al. Reisenwitz hit 582 and 562, respectively, for the Jokers, but couldn't carry the team as they split with the Marines.

Record Major saw Scheller and Kitchen carry the colors all the way last Wednesday as they came out high with single of 929 and match of 2714, and four points from Community Bar. R. Van Why had the highest single game of 235 and Jack Bergman hit 199-222-202 for 628, and high man for the night.

A reminder to all bowlers that you have just two weeks left to file your entry for the tournament. This same tournament last year passed out $825 in prize money to different individuals and doubles combinations. Top prize is still the same as before and $100 goes to the man with the best score at the end of the tournament.

Dilline came out with three even games of 186-184-181 for 551 and high in the Pocono League as he helped his team, the Faithful Class to high single and triple and three points from Keiper's Laundry.

Evelyn Weideman leads off for Owen's Television and she led out in style last Friday in the Twin Boro Ladies. Mrs. Weideman took high single with 191 and high triple with 516 as her team cornered three points from Monroe Distributors. The league had its first split point as Lawson Automotive and Knipe's Radio and TV both hit 663 in their last game of the night.

Carl Decker, secretary of the Worthington Mower League came out for himself last Wednesday as he hit 191-151-193 and 535 to be high for the night, but his own teammate Bob Beehler gave him a close race with 191-150-178 for a 519.

Cole's Drug Store made a stand in the "C" league and took four points from the hard hitting second place team from Regina Hotel. Meanwhile Lanterman's Funeral Home was widening its hold on first place as it took three points from Worthington Mower.

Friday night at the Legion saw the Auxiliary have a close match between the Hot Spots and the Merry Makers. After they passed the first game things settled down and the Hot Spots hit 582 and the Merry Makers 580 to lose the game by two pins. Then the Merry Makers turned the tables and beat the Spots 582 to 581 in the last game. Eleanor Baustein hit 174 to high on single and Flossie Hoffman had a 442 to be high in the three game department.

Bixler's TV won a close one from Fabel's Gulf in the Dave Schmidt League. Bixler's won the first one by 38 pins and lost the second one by the same margin, tying total wood at the end of the first two games. This made the last game worth two and Bixler's managed to edge out and won the last game and total wood for three points by the slim margin of three pins.

Another Nittel made the headlines as Fred hit in the Senior YMCA. He came out with single of 292 and match of 547 to be high in both departments and was a big factor as Patterson-Kelley took four points from Fred's Flashes. Meanwhile, Herb's Men's Shop was at it again as they took three from another top team by knocking off Kulp's Foundry.

Tuesday Night League bowlers at the Legion saw the Rookies miss 2500 as they hit 2494 on high matches by Cobb of 572 and Kishpaugh of 568 while they were taking four points and clinching the first half title in the league.

Defensive Units Draw Down Major Share Of Praise As Tough Tussles Feature Final Major Weekend Of College Football

By Rip Watson
New York (AP)—Defense once again came into its own as the college football season drew to a close with a cluster of traditional games packed with excitement despite sometimes miserable weather conditions.
Notre Dame's national "upset" kings beat Southern California's defense-minded team at its own game to register a 9-0 victory in the day's top surprise Saturday.
Army's vice-like defense held Army virtually helpless in the Middle's 7-0 victory.

Mississippi's Sugar Bowl bound team intercepted a pass late in the day to preserve a 20-14 victory over Mississippi State, and Georgia Tech, Ole Miss' January 1 rival, had to scramble all the way to beat back Georgia, 23-9.
Glory
Army's defensive platoon also covered itself with glory before President Truman and 102,000 others, stopping nine Navy plays inside the five yard line. The only one they failed on was a two-

Crowe's Keglers Drop Three Points To Henderson Packard

Easton—Lowly Henderson Packard rose up and won three points from second place Crowe's Insurance in a Delaware Valley Bowling League match here at Easton Recreation on Saturday. The East Stroudsburg contingent missed an even split by the narrow margin of three pins.
Tommy Sommers and Jack Darr were the only members of Crowe's five to break the 200 mark, the former hitting 204 in the second game and Darr turning the trick with a 203 count in the first contest. Sommers also hit high mark honors in a losing cause, with a 588, while Darr was next in line with a 577.

Big Guns
Elwood Beers and Les Nicholas were the big guns in a winning cause, the former being the only member of the winning team to roll over 200, with a 209 tabulation.
Crowe's club won the second game and fell three pins short in the final count to break even in the match.

The East Stroudsburg keglers also roll away from home next Saturday, when they invade the same Easton Recreation alleys to tangle with league-leading Dainty Potato Chips. This match is listed for 8 p.m.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Copy the letters in your first issue. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Average Hunter Improves Luck

Harrisburg (AP)—Some 25 to 30 per cent fewer hunters were in the fields for the regular small game season but on an average, they had better luck than last year, the State Game Commission reported yesterday.

Issuing an incomplete report covering the 19 days between November 11 and Saturday when the regular season ended, the commission said that in most counties the game was not cropped as close as usual this fall.

Postponed

The regular season, scheduled to start November 1, was postponed by a ban on all hunting and fishing brought about by drought conditions which threatened the state's woodlands. To make up in part for the time lost, the commission has set a special open season on cottontail rabbit, gray, black and fox squirrels, male ringneck pheasants and grouse for late in December.

You BORN TODAY are industrious, systematic, practical. Seldom rush things; you know what you are about, what you want. Negativity has little patience with indecisiveness, but the patience of this date will realize an integral part of a rightly run life. Birthdate of Antonio Canova, Ital. sculptor.

Five High School Teams Undefeated

By Dick Hoenig

Harrisburg (AP)—The 1952 scholastic grid campaign became practically a closed matter yesterday with some 30,000 Pennsylvania high school boys having stored their cleats and shoulder pads until next autumn.

The season, complete save for a few playoff contests in the east, went into the record books with the notation "many early and mid-season form reversals—though going all the way even for the perennial kingpins."

The evidence showed that not a single 1951 champion in the state's top conferences was able to repeat this year.

In addition, the list of major all-winning squads was the slimmest in five years: Just five schools completed their regular schedules without dropping a game or being tied. Last year 13 made the honor roll. None was able to do it again.

Defeat

And, one of 1952's perfect record holders met defeat Saturday in a championship post-season playoff. The Indians of Alliquippa took over the driver's seat in the double "A" division of the Pittsburgh area WPAL by edging Washington, 13-12, at Pitt Stadium.

The victory was the 11th in a row for the Indians, although by the slightest of margins. Washington completed the regular campaign with eight wins. Alliquippa thus took over the crown relinquished by Farrell, beaten three times in class "AA" competition this year.

Members of the Industrial Management Club of Monroe County will meet Tuesday night, Dec. 2 at 6:30 p.m. at the Indian Queen Hotel.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be George W. Burke, safety engineer at the Baltimore Revere Copper and Brass Inc. plant.

Burke, who has been employed at the Maryland plant the past eight years as a safety engineer, will address the Monroe county group on "Industrial Safety."

Burke obtained his Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State and took post-graduate work at John Hopkins University. He has been working in industrial safety problems since 1937.

The speaker is a past-president of the Baltimore Safety Engineering Club, a member of the board of directors of that city's safety council and a regular speaker at national safety conventions.

Bill Goddard, president of the local club will preside at the meeting.

Arrangements for Burke's presence as the major speaker at the meeting have been made by Horace Walters, program chairman for the club.

Students To Return Today

Thanksgiving parole ends this morning for students of twelve Monroe county schools.

Beginning with first morning classes, it's back to the regular routine of education after a blissful four-day "weekend" with restrictions limited mostly to second helpings and a few reminders from "Mom" about dressing warm enough for the changing, crisp November weather.

These are the schools which reconvene today:

Chestnuthill at 8:50 a.m.; Coolbaugh, regular time; East Stroudsburg at 8:45; Hamilton at regular time; Middle Smithfield, regular time; Ross at 8:50 a.m.; Smithfield at regular time; Stroud at 9 a.m.; Tobyhanna, regular time; Tunkhannock, regular time; Stroudsburg, regular time; St. Matthew's Parochial at regular starting time this morning. School children from Water Gap follow the Stroudsburg schedule as do those from Mount Pocono.
